The image shows a complex industrial food processing plant. In the foreground, a conveyor belt with green guides moves small, round, orange-colored products. Above this, a larger conveyor system with metal mesh belts carries the same products in small white trays. Two workers in white uniforms and hairnets are visible: one standing near a large vertical cylindrical machine in the background, and another working at a station on the right. The facility is filled with various mechanical components, pipes, and structural elements, all in a clean, industrial setting.
